November 16, 2004

A. Decisions, Feedback & Information needed by staff

1. Vacancies on Citizens' Compensation Advisory Committee (CCAC) – The purpose of the Citizens' Compensation Advisory Committee is to make recommendations to the Mayor and City Council regarding the compensation levels of the City's elected officials and City employees. The City Council appoints three of the seven positions on the Committee; the Mayor appoints three and one is appointed by the other six members.

The term of two of the Council appointees, Jill Carter and Dr. Ron Coleman, expired on August 31, 2004. Both appointees have served more than one term. Both appointees are willing to continue to serve on the advisory committee until they are replaced. According to the ordinance, the Mayor and City Council are to give consideration to achieving representation from a broad cross-section within the Salt Lake City community of occupational, professional, employee and management interests, including persons from academia, business, community councils and organized labor, and persons with compensation expertise.

Can Council Members suggest individuals who could serve on this committee?
Another option is to ask the CCAC for suggestions as to replacements.
